

BY DANIEL CASCIATO • PHOTOGRAPHY BY ERIN GREEN

GETTING TO KNOW LINDSAY HURLEY

REALTOR, ROYAL REALTY, NAPLES FLORIDA

On most weekend nights, Lindsay Hurley is usually carving sharp turns at nearly 30 miles per hour on top of her quarter horse, Diesel, in a local barrel race or rodeo.

During the week, however, this rodeo queen kicks off her boots, throws on high heels and competes on a different playing field. Hurley takes on the competitive career as a realtor with the same degree of perseverance, hard work, and enthusiasm that has given her much success in rodeo.

Working from her professional, upscale office at Royal Realty, located off the historic 3rd Street South, it gives her the opportunity to specialize in luxury properties. Although Lindsay works closely with properties in The Moorings, Port Royal, and Park Shore, her immense knowledge of the equine industry makes her indispensable as an Equine properties specialist.

With her extensive involvement in the horse community, Lindsay is able to market equine properties to their most qualified buyers.

"Only a horse person would know the importance of the type of footing in an arena or the brand of fencing," says Hurley, who matches clients with the property that best suits them based on their riding discipline.

If you're looking to buy a home in the Naples area, Hurley says that it is an ideal time to buy property.

"It's a buyer's market right now," she says. "You can get some really incredible deals for a second home or an investment."

Although her job keeps her busy, Hurley always finds some time for rodeo. She's been competing in shows since she was four years old. She also competed in the Intercollegiate Rodeo Association at Murray State University in Kentucky.

Besides an animal lover, Hurley describes herself as friendly, energetic, hard-working and easy-going.

"It's better to be easy going rather than getting worked up about things," she says with a laugh.

---

If you are a prospective property owner searching for a home in Naples, you can email Hurley at lindsaysellnaples@hotmail.com.